

We Call on Congressman Rob Bishop to Denounce Armed Thugs

Dear Congressman Bishop:

The use of armed force and intimidation to get one's way in a democracy is the worst kind of bullying. It undermines our freedom and tramples on the rights of every other American. It is neither conservative nor patriotic; it is criminal. You have an obligation to condemn such lawlessness, support law enforcement, and affirm the rights of the United States and its citizens.

America's national parks, forests, wildlife refuges—and yes, monuments too—are a shared heritage that provides recreation, inspiration and economic opportunity. Please do your part to ensure that those who visit and work in our public lands can do so safely on your watch.

Condemning Bundy-style extremism and calling for vigorous prosecution of those who break the law would be a good start.
